1. ORDER: An order from a healthcare provider is required. This can be any healthcare provider whose license permits them to order laboratory tests. The ordering provider does not have to be a specialist or a provider who has ordered the panel previously.
2. KIT: The Autoimmune Brain Panel™ (formerly known as the Cunningham Panel™) requires special collection supplies that we provide to you once an order is received and appropriate payment has been made.

3. BLOOD DRAW: Patients have been most successful obtaining a blood draw from a local hospital laboratory, small regional laboratory, a home-blood draw service, or a business like Any Lab Test Now™ or ARC Point Labs™. The blood draw is a normal, simple blood draw. If you have difficulty locating a facility to collect the specimen, please contact us about our special arrangement with Quest Diagnostics. There are fees for this service that are not included in the cost of the test. Special paperwork is required.

4. COST: The cost of the Autoimmune Brain Panel™ in the contiguous United States is $995. The cost is $1,070 in Alaska and Hawaii. Moleculera Biosciences offers no-interest payment plans for balances after the required initial payment is made. Contact our billing/insurance department for more information.

5. RESULTS: Results take between 2-3 weeks to complete and are sent directly to the ordering provider. Patients/family members can receive a copy of the results directly by completing a Release of Information form (found on the Moleculera website).
